

Increase Your Disability Leadership and Partnership Skills

If you are a parent of a child with a disability, the Riley Child Development Center program wants and needs YOU!
Serving as a Family Trainee is a great way to enhance your leadership and team-building skills.

The Riley Child Development Center is:

- Indiana's Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental Disabilities Program (LEND)
- An interdisciplinary leadership training program
- Focused on family-centered, culturally-appreciative training
- Part of the Indiana University School of Medicine in Indianapolis
- Located in the James Whitcomb Riley Hospital for Children (Riley Hospital)
- A multidisciplinary clinic for the evaluation of children with developmental concerns

If you have been a Partner in Policymaking, served as part of a parent to parent network, or had other advocacy roles, The Riley Child Development Center Program is a wonderful growth opportunity to enhance your leadership skills. You will develop leadership and team building skills alongside trainees in various disability-related fields such as OT, PT, speech therapy, nursing, psychology, social work, nutrition, and pediatrics. Your participation will also help to train future service providers about the parent perspective.

This is a significant graduate-level training opportunity entailing a commitment of 400+ hours. (approximately 1 day a week for one year). A stipend in the form of hourly compensation is offered to support your participation.

Now accepting applications for a September 2010 start!

If you are interested in receiving more information and/or an application packet, please contact:

Rylin Rodgers

Family Leadership Coordinator

317-944-8167

Email: ryrodger@iupui.edu